Manchester City is on a four-game streak of home wins, while Real Madrid is on a four-game streak of away wins: one of those streaks is about to end. Manchester City will face off against Real Madrid in the second leg of the Champions League Quarterfinal at 3:00 p.m. ET on April 17th at Etihad Stadium. Manchester City is strutting in with some offensive muscle, as they've averaged 3 goals per game this season.

Neither team was able to walk away with a win in the first leg of the Quarterfinal last Tuesday. After two halves, Manchester City and Real Madrid settled for a 3-3 draw. The result kept Manchester City happy, as they haven't lost a game yet in this tournament.

With that draw, Manchester City's record moves to 8-1-0. Meanwhile, Real Madrid's record is now 7-2-0.

With the semi-finals looming, the two teams have to be feeling the pressure. Check CBS Sports after the action for a full breakdown of the game and more Champions League content.
